

Neehar Parikh

Neehar Parikh MD MS is an Assistant Professor of Gastroenterology and Hepatology and Medical Director of the Liver Tumor Program at the University of Michigan.

His research focuses on liver cancer risk stratification and screening, biomarker development for the early detection of liver cancer, and treatment paradigms for patients diagnosed with liver cancer.